

Athena's Cup Empowers Women to Surrender Their Bras and Show Support in the Fight Against Breast Cancer

Campaign Led By Athena's Home Novelties Sets to Break Bra-Chain World Record with 169,000 Donated Bras

Woonsocket, RI – February 2012 – Athena's Home Novelties, one of the country's premier adult novelty companies, reports Athena's Cup, a national campaign that aims to collect and hook together 169,000 donated bras in an effort to raise breast cancer awareness and attempt to break the current bra-chain Guinness World Record has collected over 77,166 bras to date. Athena's Cup requests a $5.00 donation with each bra collection in an effort to raise half a million dollars for breast cancer research.

"The Athena's Cup Campaign is not about the bras; it's about giving the women who wear them the chance to live in a world that is rid of breast cancer," said Jennifer Jolicoeur, Mother Goddess and President of Athena's Home Novelties. "We want to get women talking and encouraging one another to get that mammogram they've been putting off, start performing regular breast self-exams, and play an active role with their own health. If a chain of bras can stop women in their tracks and cause them to do just that, then we can potentially save lives."

Proceeds raised from Athena's Cup will benefit the The American Cancer Society, Planned Parenthood (Breast Cancer Screening Programs) and The Gloria Gemma Foundation. In honor and memory of breast cancer survivors, donors are encouraged to write the names of a loved one or other meaningful inscriptions on the bras prior to sending them in. Gently worn bras received will be donated to battered women shelters following the campaign. Shelters interested in receiving a donation of bras are encouraged to send a request to marketing@athenashn.com.
